

Tilray Medical Expands Medical Cannabis Access for Veterans Through Lyphe Clinic at Aldershot's Armed Forces Weekend

Jun 26, 2026

Lyphe Clinic, Tilray's trusted medical cannabis clinic, will engage veterans, service members and families through its Lyphe for Veterans access programme.

The Aldershot activation highlights Tilray Medical's commitment to expanding responsible, regulated medical cannabis access across the UK following Tilray Brands' acquisition of Lyphe Group.

LONDON, June 26, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Tilray Medical, a global leader in medical cannabis research, cultivation, production, products and distribution and a division of Tilray Brands, Inc. ("Tilray") (Nasdaq: TLRV; TSX: TLRV), today announced that Lyphe Clinic Ltd. ("Lyphe"), Tilray's trusted medical cannabis clinic in the UK, will proudly participate in Armed Forces Weekend¹ in Aldershot on June 27–28, 2026, bringing its Lyphe for Veterans access programme directly to one of the UK's most meaningful community celebrations of military service. The activation underscores Tilray Medical's commitment to expanding responsible, regulated access to medical cannabis through a connected UK healthcare platform while recognising the unique needs and contributions of the Armed Forces and veteran community.

At the event, Lyphe will host a dedicated stand designed to inform, connect and engage with veterans, service members, families and local organisations. The team will share information on Lyphe for Veterans, Lyphe's services and the patient journey, creating an opportunity for direct conversation in a setting that celebrates service, community and support.

Rajnish Ohri, President, International, Tilray Brands, stated: "Armed Forces Weekend is an important moment to honour service, celebrate community and deepen awareness of the support available to veterans. Lyphe for Veterans reflects the kind of patient-first innovation we believe can help shape the next chapter of regulated healthcare access in the UK: practical, responsible, clinically led and built around real patient needs. By bringing this programme directly to the veteran community in Aldershot, we are reinforcing Tilray Medical's commitment to building a more connected healthcare ecosystem that expands access, strengthens trust and supports patients with care and discretion."

Launched in late 2025, Lyphe for Veterans is open to veterans of any nationality aged 18 or over who reside in the UK or Channel Islands and can provide appropriate proof of veteran status. The programme is designed to remove clinic-related financial barriers and make the path to regulated clinical assessment more straightforward by covering:

- Initial consultation fees
- Follow-up appointment fees
- Summary Care Record handling
- Repeat prescription request and delivery fees through Lyphe Dispensary

Aldershot is home to a significant Armed Forces and veteran population, making Armed Forces Weekend a powerful setting to bring awareness, education and access-oriented support closer to the community. The event is anticipated to draw between 20,000 and 40,000 attendees based on comparable gatherings.

Lyphe Clinic became part of Tilray Medical in April 2026, following Tilray Brands' acquisition of the Lyphe Group. The transaction established a vertically integrated UK medical platform spanning clinical care, dispensing and pharmaceutical distribution. By combining Lyphe's trusted medical cannabis clinic model and digital patient-access capabilities with Tilray's established international distribution platform, Tilray Medical is advancing a differentiated healthcare platform built to support more consistent, reliable and responsible medical cannabis access across the UK over time.
